To whom it may concern:

I am honored to join Prof. Jean Dausser (Nobel Prize laureate for Medicine), Jerome Posner, MD, PhD (George Cotzias Professor and Director, George Cotzias Laboratory, Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, Weill Medical College of Cornell University), and with them to affirm that the extraordinary discovery of the effects of high-dose baclofen to eliminate addictions by Olivier Ameisen, M.D., (Visiting Professor of Medicine, State University of New York Downstate Medical Center, Fellow of the European Society of Cardiology, member of the European Society for Biomedical Research on Alcoholism), and his generous act of sharing and teaching his findings and insights with and to the medical community, have resulted in substantial benefit in terms of relief of addictions (and, probably, their morbid and lethal sequelae) among an increasingly large population of affected patients.

Dr. Ameisen's unique knowledge and expertise in defining management for patients with addiction makes him a bona fide international expert in this area, and, to my judgment, highly qualified to treat patients with addiction. The benefits of Dr. Ameisen's efforts to the affected patients and to their families cannot be overstated, and should be supplemented by direct clinical care that he uniquely can provide.

Sincerely yours,
